1.0 PROJECT SUMMARY

GoodWorks International, LLC (GWI) seeks to enter into a two year Agreement with the Government of the Republic of Sierra Leone (GoSL), working with and under the direction of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation and the Attorney-General and Minister of Justice, to advocate and represent the interests of GoSL in the United States, particularly between senior executives and their congressional counterparts. The representation services (Services) are designed to develop and implement initiatives that will result in a more favourable policy environment for GoSL and improve the perception of Sierra Leone among U.S based donor agencies, multilateral institutions, and other public and private sector entities. It is expected that the services will also include specific ad hoc tasks and assignments by GoSL during the course of the Agreement.

2.0 REPRESENTATION OBJECTIVES

GWI will provide multi-dimensional representation, which combines national level advocacy, support for official and private visits to the U.S. by the President of the Republic of Sierra Leone and senior members of the Cabinet and government, and with policy analysis when requested, identification of opportunities that will benefit Sierra Leone and its people, raise Sierra Leone's standing among U.S. foreign policy priorities in Africa, and improve Sierra Leone prospects for attracting U.S. foreign direct investment.

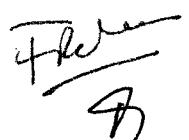

3.0 RATIONALE AND NEED FOR REPRESENTATION

3.1 Research shows a strong correlation between countries and geographic regions which receive favourable economic and political treatment from the United States, on the one hand, and effective advocacy and access to power brokers and decision-makers in the executive and legislative branches of the federal government, on the other. Historically, effective advocacy before federal agencies and authorities generates substantial interest in a particular country and its national agenda, frequently inducing members of Congress and the Administration to respond more favourably to a country's national interests than would otherwise be the case. Countries without strong American advocacy in Washington, on the other hand, risk marginalization or indifference by Congress and/or the Administration with respect to issues of importance to them. GWI will work to enhance Sierra Leone's image and profile by engaging the Washington bureaucracy, senior officials responsible for defining and implementing U.S. Africa policy, members of Congress with strong interests in Africa, and influential civil society groups with activities and interests on the continent.

3.2 The need to enhance Sierra Leone's profile in the U.S. is palpable. Sierra Leone's positive image is not well known in the United States, nor does it receive the kind of attention in government circles that we believe it deserves.

That Sierra Leone does not feature as prominently as it might in the foreign policy of the United States finds a parallel in the relative ignorance of its accomplishments and potential in the American private sector. In the economic and investment arena, there is a need to demonstrate the positive results of ongoing GoSL efforts to overcome economic, political and social challenges and to improve the country's investment climate. If this is not done effectively, U. S. private capital may be diverted elsewhere.

It therefore is in the interest of GoSL to have a respected and credible voice in Washington, with strong political standing and media credentials, to complement and extend the reach of the Embassy of the Republic of Sierra Leone and to ensure access and influence with the executive and legislative branches, the private sector, and the NGO community.

4.0 REPRESENTATION SERVICES

In furtherance of the duties described herein, GWI will use its best efforts and good offices to support the GoSL and will devote all necessary time and personnel resources to the task. GWI shall carry out all required activities for effective representation of Sierra Leone, including, but not limited to, the following Services:

4.1 GWI will help to design relevant programs, arrange meetings with appropriate officials in the Administration and Congress, and provide access to corporate leaders and media representatives:

4.2 Monitor U.S. legislation and trade policies that directly affect Sierra Leone, and provide analysis and guidance to Sierra Leonean officials on the impact of those policies and the new opportunities they might present:

4.3 Promote greater congressional knowledge and understanding of GoSL policies and accomplishments, and more positive attitudes and policies toward Sierra Leone and the efforts of its government. In addition to using its own skills and resources, GWI will, as necessary, identify and engage interested trade associations and non-profit groups in Washington and beyond, that might help advance the policy objectives of the GoSL.

4.4 Enhance the public image of the Government of Sierra Leone in the U.S. by careful monitoring of media reports on Sierra Leone, to counter negative information with balanced responses. Consistent with the goal of elevating the image of Sierra Leone's in the U.S. and internationally, GWI will collaborate with the Government on matters related to public diplomacy, including, where necessary and requested, preparing testimony or legislative briefings, reviewing correspondence with members of Congress and drafting op-ed pieces, letters to the editor, speeches, and press releases.4.5 Execute specific projects that fall within the scope of GoSL's immediate concerns, as well as other projects at the request of the Government, whenever necessary.

5.0 SPECIFIC PROJECTS

In light of the above, GWI will focus particular attention on the following projects, which GWI understands to be of high-level interest and immediate importance to the GoSL:

5.1 In cooperation with the Embassy of Sierra Leone and the Permanent Mission of Sierra Leone to the United Nations (based in New York), assemble a U.S. Advocacy Group for Sierra Leone consisting of business, political, civil society, environmental, and academic professionals, to include Sierra Leonean nationals based in the U.S., for the purpose of helping to speak for Sierra Leone in matters of interest to government, business, or civil society.

5.2 Highlight Sierra Leone's achievements with the U.S. Administration. Focus greater official and public attention on Sierra Leone's enduring political stability, dedication to democratic values, regional leadership, support for counter-terrorism, and commitment to a market-based economy.

5.3 In close collaboration with the GoSL, help to organize U.S. Administration visits to Sierra Leone, as well as visits by Congressional delegations (CODELS), Congressional staffers (STAFFDELS), and potential investors from the U.S. business community. During their visits, such delegations will request meetings with key GoSL officials, including His Excellency, The President. They will also seek meetings with leaders of civil society, human rights groups, business and religious leaders, and representatives of the media and academia.
